3R CARE- & WAXPRODUCTS

So that the sled moves and moves

Well gliding rails are susceptible to rust. Therefore, the most important rule of conduct for the care of the sled is: Always dry the running surface after use and then wax in or conserve it.

With wet new snow there is the danger of adhesion, it feels like "sticking to the snow". In extremely cold conditions there can be problems with ice accumulation, mostly in the rear area of the runner.
